Background and Methodology

- Freddie Mac has commissioned Harris Poll to survey more than 4,000 U.S. adults on their perceptions about housing in general and key issues in today's market.
- Freddie Mac has conducted this research to learn about consumers':
  - » Preferences towards the housing choices available to them
  - » Financial views and behavior
  - » Views on renting and owning
  - » The drivers for their housing decisions.

- Harris Poll, on behalf of Freddie Mac, conducted an online survey within the United States via its Omnibus product between August 2015 and April 2019. Information regarding the last seven waves of this study is included below:

Waves	Data Collection	Total (18 and Over)	Owner	Renter	Other
Oct. 2015	October 8 – 12	2,020	N/A	703	N/A
Jan. 2016	January 2016 – February 1	4,063	N/A	1,527	N/A
Sep. 2016	August 31 – September 6	4,105	2,664	1,362	79
Mar. 2017	March 3 – 6	4,283	2,901	1,282	100
Aug. 2017	August 28 – 30	4,459	3,030	1,342	87
Feb. 2018	January 30 – February 1	4,115	2,821	1,209	85
Aug. 2018	August 13 – 15	4,040	2,916	1,059	65
Apr. 2019	April 1 – 4	4,040	2,864	1,119	57

- For all surveys, figures for age, sex, race/ethnicity, education, region and household income were weighted where necessary to bring them into line with their actual proportions in the population. Propensity score weighting was used to adjust for respondents' likelihood to be online.
- All sample surveys and polls, whether or not they use probability sampling, are subject to multiple sources of error, which are often not possible to quantify or estimate, including sampling and coverage error, error associated with nonresponse, error associated with question wording/response options and post-survey weighting and adjustments. Therefore, the words "margin of error" are avoided as they are misleading. All that can be calculated are different possible sampling errors with different probabilities for pure, unweighted, random samples with 100% response rates. These are only theoretical because no published polls come close to this ideal.
- Respondents for this survey were selected from among those who agreed to participate in panel surveys. The data have been weighted to reflect the composition of the adult population. Because the sample is based on those who agreed to participate in the online panel, no estimates of theoretical sampling error can be calculated.
- Due to rounding, percentages may add up to 100% +/-1%

Income Tiers

For the purpose of this study, respondents are classified into tiers based on methodology used by Pew Research Center using 2016 American Community Survey (IPUMS) data which identifies ranges of household income needed to qualify for middle-income status in 2016 dollars.

Each respondent is assigned an income tier based on response to household size and the household's total annual income. The tiers also take in consideration the different median income levels in each U.S. metropolitan area.

High and middle tiers derive from the IPUMS ranges. To classify the very low income tier, we use one-half the highest value for the low income tier.

Note: Household income is asked as a categorical range in the survey. We use the midpoint as well as census ranges to apply the specific income for the purpose of matching to the income levels from IPUMS.

	Very Low Income	Low Income	Middle Income	High Income
Owner	6%	12%	57%	25%
Renter	20%	28%	44%	9%
